Alan Freed Airs From Jay-Teen

Art Van Damme Quintet Debuts Tonight ON WAKR

By BEE OFFINEER, Radio Editor

THINGS ARE REALLY stirring on the local radio front.

Alan Freed is moving his Friday night "Request Review" from WAKR's studios to the Jay-Teen. From there, he'll emcee the records and present stunts and contests for the teen-agers.

Long outstanding for his philosophy that the teen-agers need an outlet for their youthful enthusiasms, Freed has promoted his program as a meeting place for hobby-soxers. He was one of the first disc jockeys in the country to have a studio audience. "If the boys and girls are in the studio, they aren't out on the streets getting into trouble," is his idea.

That is also the basis upon which Jay-Teen was built. It is only natural that the two should get together. By appearing at the Jay-Teen, Freed will have facilities for the largest studio audience he has ever appeared before since starting "Request Review." Airtime is 11:15.
